

Royce Dallman County Park:

While only 2.3 acres in size, this park provides an excellent landing to launch small fishing boats onto Lake Koshkonong. A major renovation of this park was completed in 2006, including a new picnic pavilion and restrooms.

This park is named after Royce Dallman, a Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources game warden, who served in Rock County for 24 years from 1940-1964. Dallman believed that a warden should do more than enforcement, he should help repair depleted resources.

Boat Launch:

The two lane boat launch is located on Lake Koshkonong. All users are required to purchase a single day or seasonal Rock County launch pass. Registration materials are available on site.

Pavilion:

Host your family reunion, graduation party or picnic here. The shelter is rented through the Rock County Parks Department. Rentals must be made if you plan to use electricity. If the shelter is not reserved, it is available on a first-come, first-serve basis. Rentals always take precedent over drop-in users.

History of the Lake:

Before the Indianford Dam was built, Lake Koshkonong had a depth of only four feet. Wild rice grew so thick on the lake that it looked like a vast meadow. In 1846, the first dam was built in Indianford, roughly four miles down the Rock River, which raised the level of the lake.

Today, Lake Koshkonong is a favorite place for recreation. In summer, pontoon boats, fishing boats, sailboats and canoes can all be found on the lake. Water skiing, tubing, and jet skiing are also popular. Another favorite activity is fishing.

Location:

Royce Dallman Park is located just off County Hwy N north of Milton on Charley Bluff Road.

Amenities:

Include picnic tables, drinking water, grills, and restroom facilities. In an effort to keep the area clean, a dumpster is provided.
